Re: SEC v. SolarWinds Corp., et al. 23-cv-09518-PAE
Joint Letter Motion to Stay Pending Dates Due to Settlement in Principle

Dear Judge Engelmayer:

The parties in this case, Plaintiff Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”), and Defendants SolarWinds Corp. (“SolarWinds”) and Timothy G. Brown (“Brown”) have reached a settlement in principle that would completely resolve this litigation. Like all settlements in SEC cases, the settlement is subject to review and approval by the SEC’s Commissioners. To allow the parties time to finalize the paperwork for the settlement, and for the Commissioners to then consider and determine whether to approve the settlement, the parties jointly request that: (1) all pending dates in this litigation be indefinitely stayed, (2) the oral argument scheduled for July 22, 2025 be indefinitely postponed, and (3) if the parties have not filed the settlement paperwork with the Court by September 12, 2025, the parties file joint status report on that date updating the Court on the finalization of the settlement and proposed future deadlines.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Christopher Bruckmann
